

KartOO Adds Entireweb Search Results to its Meta-Search Engine.

HALMSTAD, SWEDEN - November 24, 2005 -

Entireweb (www.entireweb.com), the Internet search engine and provider of search results, today announced an agreement to deliver its search results to the meta-search engine, KartOO (www.kartoo.com).

Marcus Andersson, Entireweb's CEO described the partnership as a step forward. "This new partnership will help us to become an even better provider of high quality search results and also add some extra value to KartOO and it's users," said Andersson.

Unlike many other search engines, Entireweb works very hard to increase the quality of the search results and not mainly focusing on the size of the index. At the same time, Entireweb has grown to become an important provider of search results to many leading search engines on the internet.

In addition, customers of Entireweb can use many of the popular services available on Entireweb, such as Entireweb SpeedyAds which is a unique pay per click advertising system, where it is actually possible to advertise for free by displaying ads from the system on your own web pages. Entireweb Research is another product that lets you tap into the millions of searches performed every day in the Entireweb network, and extract precisely the information you need about people's interests, habits and trends.

About Entireweb

Entireweb's mission is to provide easy-to-use search services to the community, and we are dedicated to setting a high-quality standard for search technology. As the Web becomes larger and more complex, finding high-quality information has become very important to Internet users. With our search technology, we help users find information quickly and easy. Entireweb's philosophy is to be able to deliver the best quality search tools available.

We continue to develop with new initiatives to continually improving freshness, quality and relevancy to help users get the best results available on what they seek.

For information: <http://www.entireweb.com> or Contact: press@entireweb.com
Phone: 46-35-156355